

Railway Goods Sheds (Queensland)

7

Adapted by A C Lynn Zelmer, CaneSIG coordinator, from clinic notes and provided by Jim Hutchinson and Jim Fainges

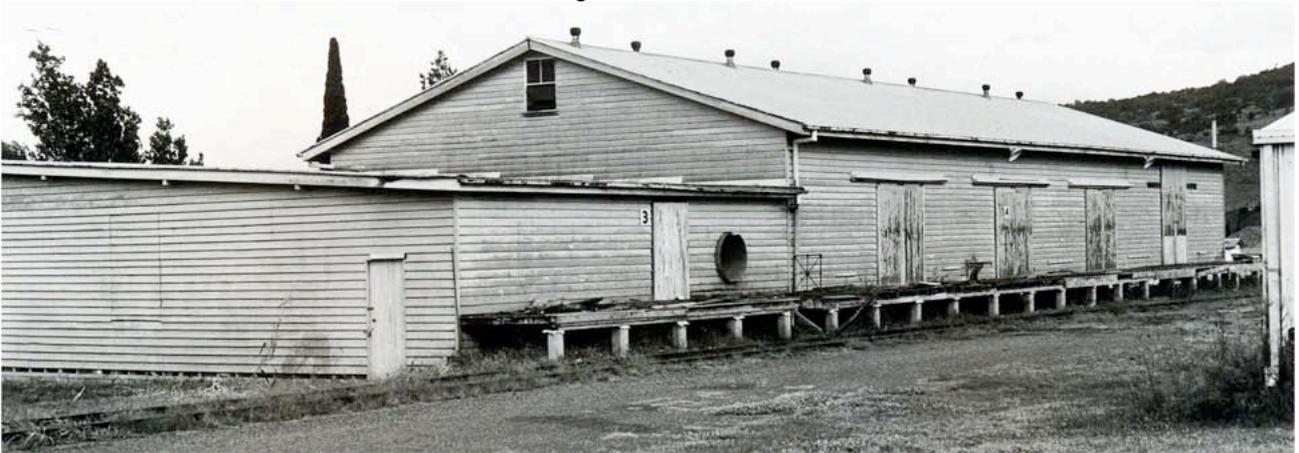

Private Sheds

Copyright © 2006. May be reproduced for non-commercial use only; Contact the coordinator for any other use.

CaneSIG: <http://www.zelmeroz.com/canesig>

Privately owned lineside sheds are yet another aspect of freight infrastructure. These types of structures offer the freelance modeller some degree of latitude in creating the fabric of the building, as well as any signage that may be appended.

Two groups of freight sheds at Lowood, 1989 (top) and 1995 (above). Jim Hutchinson photos.

ACF and Shirley's Shed, Home Hill 1996. Jim Hutchinson photo.

Photos continue next page.

Acknowledgements

This series of articles was originally published by the Modelling the Railways of Queensland Convention 2006 as 'Goods Handling Facilities', a presentation by Jim Hutchinson and Jim Fainges. Reproduced and edited with permission. Additional materials are credited where they appear.

Additional photos and some plans are available on the CaneSIG web site (www.zelmeroz.com/canesig) and on Queensland's rail heritage web site (QldRailHeritage.com).

ACF and Shirley's Shed, Home Hill 1996. Jim Hutchinson photo.

Queensland Fruitgrowers' Society building in the Stanthorpe yard. Jim Hutchinson photo.